3. As per the plaint, defendant No. 1 was found to be carrying on operations on behalf of defendant No. 2.

4. Defendants chose not to enter appearance after being served. Vide order dated 20.2.2004 they were proceeded ex-parte. Plaintiff has led evidence by way of affidavit.

5. Evidence by way of affidavit of Mr. Nikhil Krishnamurthi proves the following:-

(i) Ex.P.1, power of attorney issued by the plaintiff company in favour of Mr. Nikhil Krishnamurthi to institute the suit, sign and verify the pleadings.

(ii) That the plaintiff is in the field of computer programmes (Software), the said computer software includes various operating systems such as MS-DOS, Microsoft Windows and Microsoft Office.

(iii) Ex.P.2, P.3, P.4 and P.5, being the computer programmes developed by the plaintiff named (a) Microsoft Office 2000, (b) Microsoft Windows 98 Operating Systems, (c) Microsoft Visual Basic (d) Microsoft Visual C++.

(iv) Ex.P.6 and P.7 being the certificate of registration pertaining to the registration of the trade mark Microsoft in name of the plaintiff.

(v) Ex.P.8 being the affidavit of Mr. Vikas Arora, an employee of the plaintiff who purchased a computer from the defendants loaded with the pirated software of the plaintiff.

(vi) Ex.P.9 being the affidavit of a technical expert Mr. Sunil John who studied the hard disk of the computer purchased from the defendants by Mr. Vikas Arora and reported loading of pirated software of the plaintiff on the hard disk.

6. Plaintiff has also filed affidavit by way of evidence of Shri Sanjiv Sharma a Chartered Accountant. Said evidence brings on record and proves the following:-

(i) Evidenced from the bill issued by the defendants on 3.9.1992, the fact that the defendants are in business since 1.4.1996 because of the reason the bill records sales tax registration w.e.f. 1.4.1996.

(ii) From the bill of the defendants, on the sale price of a computer it is established that the sale price was Rs. 27,050/- as of 3.9.2002.

(iii) On the assumption that the defendant sell approximately 100 computers a year, which is purely assumptive, on the further assumption that keeping in view the operating systems Windows 1998, 400 computers would be load with said system, lesser sales of the other software, assumption would be that 200 computers and 20 computers respectively were loaded with the software Office 2000 STD and Visual Studio 6.0, on the cost per unit of the licenced software estimated loss of business to the plaintiff comes to Rs. 64 lacs.

(iv) Minus dealers profit of Rs. 2.40 lacs, net revenue loss has been worked out at Rs. 61.6 lacs.

(v) On the basis of the annual returns of the plaintiff, average profit having been worked out over the last 4 years, evidence of this witness establishes that the gross profit of the plaintiff being 32.1%, loss of profit to the plaintiff comes to Rs. 19.75 lacs.

7. Affidavit of Mr. Vikas Arora proved as Ex.P.8 by Mr. Nikhil Krishnamurthi establishes that when he approached defendant No. 1 for sale of a computer, defendant No. 1 agreed to sell a computer loaded with the following software of the plaintiff:-

(a) Visual Studio 6.0

(b) MS Windows 98

(c) MS Office 2000.

8. Affidavit further establishes that defendant No. 1 did not issue a formal bill/cash memo but handed over his business card in which name of defendant No. 2 was printed showing said defendant to be a dealer in computers and electronic components. The affidavit of Mr. Vikas Arora further establishes that on his instances defendant No. 1 gave a bill dated 3.9.2002 pertaining to sale of a computer. The bill does not list any software, software literature or CD being sold.

9. Annexure P.9 proved by Shri Nikhil Krishnamurthi, being the affidavit of Mr. Sunil John, a computer expert, proves that the hard disk of the computer purchased by Mr. Vikas Arora was being loaded, by the defendants with the software of the plaintiff.

10. Evidence on record establishes that Mr. Nikhil Krishnamurthi is competent to file and institute the suit on behalf of the plaintiff. The verification of the plaint is in order. Evidence also establishes that the plaintiff is the registered proprietor of the trade mark/name MICROSOFT and that the copyright in the computer software programmes:-
(a) MS Windos 98, (b) MS Office 2000 and (c) MS Visual Studio 6.0 vests in the plaintiff.

11. Evidence further establishes hard disk piracies by the defendants. It establishes that the defendants are pirating software of the plaintiff and are loading the same on the hard disk of the computers sold by said defendants without permission from the plaintiff.

12. Though assumptive i.e. based on the assumption of sale of 100 computers each year and on the basis of the popularity of the computer software, as also sold computers being loaded with the pirated software, loss of profit to the stands established.

13. It may be true that the financial loss is based on certain assumption, but it cannot be helped for the reason the defendant has chosen to remain ex-parte.

14. Assertion of the witnesses of the plaintiff that the plaintiff has a copyright in the pirated software has gone un rebutted.

15. Evidence on record establishes that the defendants are engaged in the business of assembling computers and sale to the public under the name of defendant No. 2.
16. Before a computer can function to carry out the tasks required by its owner, it has to be properly loaded with one or more operating systems. The operating system is nothing but a software contained in a CD. The defendants are supplying computers pre-loaded with the software of the plaintiff.
17. The software being pre-loaded in the computers sold by defendants is a software, copyright whereof vests in the plaintiff.
18. Unchallenged evidence of the witnesses of the plaintiff noted above which includes the sworn affidavit of an employee of the plaintiff, defendants are proved to be pirating the software of the plaintiff.
19. It stands established that the defendants have infringed the plaintiff's copyright by making illicit copies of the operating systems software by openly copying whatever operating system is currently salable. As observed in Microsoft Corporation v. Electrowide Ltd. and Anr. (1997) FSR 580 by Mr. Justice Ladd of the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, this constitutes a general threat to infringe the copyright in the class of software.
20. Defendants are in the business of sale of computers. One can safely presume that they had knowledge that the products being sold were infringing copies.
21. Plaintiff is a world renowned computer software company. Plaintiff would be entitled to the wide ranging injunctions to restrain any further infringement of its intellectual property rights in any of its software at the hands of the defendants. Plaintiff would also be entitled to an order for the delivery-up forthright by the defendants. Plaintiff would also be entitled to damages for the reason that it would be futile to direct the defendants to render accounts for the reason that the defendants have been carrying on business surreptitiously.
22. Suit is accordingly decreed in terms of prayers 'A' to 'D' of the plaint, as noted in para above. Suit is further decreed by awarding the plaintiff compensation/damages against the defendants in the sum of Rs. 19.75 lacs. Damages awarded are payable by the defendants jointly and severally. Damages awarded shall carry interest @ 9% p.a. from the date of decree till date of payment.
23. Plaintiff would be entitled to costs.
24. Decree be prepared on the plaintiff making up the deficiency in court fee in respect of the damages which have been awarded.
